herman selderhuis as editor of this volume has brought together a team of experts resulting in a unique approach since each chapter is co written by a catholic and a protestant author who have all integrated the latest research results each section begins with a brief historiographical overview the same time ecclesiastical events are always set within a greater framework of political social and cultural developments for which reason each author has taken the liberty to describe its own method the user will find in this book tables diagrams and illustrations also many source texts are integrated in the narration theses texts are intended to bring the described events and people closer to the reader and as it were to let them speak the words the name of the book as handbook of the church history of the netherlands immediately brings to mind three problematic complexes which are relevant to its user first there is the nature of a handbook that is intended to be a good tool but also has its limitations it stimulates and necessitates the use of further books second the area the netherlands is a plurality and that is also noticeable in its church history for each region town and village has its own church history third the history of the church for sure is the most important aspect but this history can only be understood if it is described in the context of political and social developments

the dutch reformed church in the american colonies remains the best study of the early years of the reformed church in north america de jong s careful account takes the readers on a fascinating journey from the establishment of a dutch church at a mill in new amsterdam to the early years of an indigenous american denomination along the way we become acquainted with issues in the colonial period that are pertinent in the twenty first century for the reformed church in america church multiplication leadership training discipleship regional tensions adaptation to cultural changes worship and liturgy de jong helps us to see that in many respects the more things change the more they remain the same the rev dennis n voskuil ph d president and de witt professor of church history western theological seminary holland michigan the reissue of de jong s classic study is very welcome though of course there has been other important work on various aspects of the colonial dutch reformed experience in the thirty years since the book s first appearance still it remains the standard comprehensive account a careful and thorough work that shows a mastery of the sources and sticks close to them the rev john coakley ph d l russel feakes professor of church history new brunswick theological seminary new brunswick new jersey to anyone at all acquainted with the place which the dutch reformed church in london has occupied during the centuries it will not cause surprise to hear that i hesitated for a moment before accepting the invitation from its council to relate the history of the church on the occasion of its four hundredth anniversary not much time was left and the material was voluminous only few church communities possess such a wealth of written documents bearing on their past history or have been the centre to the same extent of so many varied activities however there were considerations on the other side which made me decide to undertake the work the extensive archives of the church are well arranged and well preserved the most important part the voluminous correspondence consisting mainly of letters addressed to the church council has been made available in a highly meritorious manner by j h hessels publication eclesiae londinobatavae archivum only a small part of the often very detailed minutes of the council meetings has been published but these publications by dr a kuyper and dr a a van schelven cover two very important periods in the history of the church in addition there are the publications of the marnix society viz ruytinck s gheschiedenissen hi story and its sequels and the acta of the colloquia of the dutch church communities in england the name of plymouth church has been for many years a household word in countless communities at home and abroad and yet little was known of its definite history to be sure everybody knew that henry ward beecher preached from its pulpit but prior to the late silver wedding few people could have answered correctly as to the number of years of his ministry in brooklyn mr harvey s weld supplied the writer with the facts and data which have been the foundation of this work the manuals embracing the religious and historic annals of plymouth church and various other works relevant to the subject have been carefully explored and annotated and their documents and treasures have been profusely spread before our readers in the following pages many things are hereafter spoken of which perhaps relate more properly to the life of the pastor than to the history of the church for although the effort has been made to speak only of that which related properly to the church the life of the one and the history of the other are so closely interwoven that it has been impossible to untwine the cord that binds them together preface
